IHACI HVAC/R/SM/ Performance Contracting Trade Show Marks 32nd Year in Pasadena

Largest Event of its Kind for the Southern California Heating & Air Conditioning Industry Draws Thousands of Contractors and Industry Professionals to the Pasadena Convention Center

Pasadena, Calif. — The 32nd Annual HVAC/R/SM/Performance Contracting Product and Equipment Trade Show, produced by the Institute of Heating and Air Conditioning Industries, Inc. (IHACI), will feature a major roster of the heating and cooling industry's biggest names displaying their latest and finest wares. The theme is "Hit It Out of the Park." This year's show is scheduled to be held on Wednesday, November 16, 2011 at the Pasadena Convention Center, 300 E. Green St., Pasadena, Calif., from 11:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m.

"If you want to know what's going on in the industry, you need to be at this show," said Bob Wiseman of Calif.-based Canoga Park Heating & Air Conditioning Company and IHACI's president. "It gives contractors a great opportunity to network with other industry leaders, as well as a chance to check on the latest innovative ideas."

In addition to the wide array of new products, services, and technologies filling the exhibition hall, this year's show, like last year's, will feature a variety of free, business-related seminars throughout the day.

"Attendance at the trade show is a necessity for anyone engaged in the heating, air conditioning, refrigeration, and sheet metal industries," said Jim Miyao of the Southern California Gas Co. (Ret.) and IHACI's Trade Show chairman. "There is so much to see and so much to learn about. It's an important day for individual businesses, and for the industry at large."

Mark your calendar now to be in Pasadena on Wednesday, November 16, 2011. Contracts and speed badges will be available online at www.ihaci.org.
